GENERAL NEWS.

Mrs. Lincoln's Funeral Takes Place at Springfield.

DISASTROUS STORMS IN VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

Fears of Another Yellow Fever Outbreak in the South—General Crop Reports of the Country.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 19.—By suspension of business, both public and private, and general attendance at her funeral, the citizens of this city to-day testified their respects for the relict of the late President Abraham Lincoln. Services were held at the First Presbyterian church, which was crowded with people, and the streets in the neighborhood blocked with throngs unable to gain admission. Governor Cullom, Judge S. H. Treat, Gen. John M. McClernand, Hon. Milton Hay, Col. John Williams, Hon. S. H. Jones, Hon. Jas. C. Conkling and Capt. Jesse S. Bradford acted as pall bearers. The altar was completely covered with handsome flowers and crape. The state officials attended in a body. Secretary Lincoln and members of the family, and near friends, came just to view the remains. Following behind Lincoln was a wreath of roses. The services were brief, consisting of music by a choir, prayer by Rev. S. H. D. Post and [illegible] A. Parker, and sermon by J. A. Reed. The arrangements were simple and there was no attempt at display, and the minister attempted no eulogy, and according to her expressed wish the sermon was largely biographical and very interesting in historic reminiscences.

More Indians Leaving.

[illegible], July 20.—A band of White mountain Apaches, numbering between 50 and 100, left San Carlos reservation yesterday morning. About forty miles from San Carlos, on the Gila river, they attacked a train and killed one driver and ran off fifty head of stock. They are travelling the same trail made by them last spring. A courier was sent from here to warn settlers at Clifton and York's ranch. Unless the courier reaches Clifton ahead of the Indians the outrages of last April will be repeated.

Arrest of Judgment Refused.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Arrest of judgment was refused in the case of Curtis, ex-treasury agent, convicted of collecting money from office-holders for political purposes, as the act of congress prohibits such collections, and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1000. The case goes to the supreme court.

Yellow Fever Scare.

MEMPHIS, July 20.—The reported case of yellow fever in New Orleans has excited alarm and Memphis has already quarantined against New Orleans and in all likelihood will establish a rigid quarantine against all persons if there are any more developments. The city is in excellent sanitary condition.

VICKSBURG, July 20.—Thus far there are no fears in regard to the fever. The weather is exceedingly pleasant, the thermometer ranging from 70 to 80. Nights are cooler and sanitary condition of the city very fair.

Sanitary Condition of New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—The city was never in such perfect sanitary condition as to-day and enjoying such good health. Fevers of all kinds are very infrequent. With reference to indications of yellow fever the universal opinion of doctors is there will be none. The family generally agree with Drs. Jones and Semmes that the man recently reported as a yellow fever victim, died of jaundice.

Sentenced to the Penitentiary.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Willie Matches, the notorious cracksman, who successfully burglarized the Galesburg bank three years ago, was sentenced ten years to the penitentiary yesterday.

Chicago Notes.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Fifteen fatal cases of lock-jaw, caused by wounds from toy pistols July 4th, have been reported in this city and three in the country; also six boys at Burlington and three at Peoria.

The Trouble Over.

NEW YORK, July 20.—An amicable arrangement has been effected with Mrs. Lavan Berger, sister of Cornelius J. Vanderbilt, who will withdraw her objections and his will will be admitted to probate.

Hung for Stealing Corn.

JACKSON, Miss., July 20.—In Winston county, last night, Noah Parks, a colored preacher, was hanged by a mob and left for dead, but friends found and resuscitated him. He stole corn.

Children Poisoned.

PETERSBURG, Va., July 20.—Three children of Mary Dickens, living in Northampton county, were fatally poisoned some days since, by whom not known.

Earthquake at Cairo.

CAIRO, Ills., July 20.—A shock of earthquake was felt here this morning, lasting 10 minutes, and passed northwest.

Destroyed by Hail.

DEADWOOD, D. T., July 19.—A violent hail and wind storm visited Belle Fourche, Big Bottom, Spring creek and Lower White Wood valleys last night, doing great damage to crops. During the past week nearly half the crops in the Black Hills have been destroyed by hail.

Storm in Boston.

BOSTON, July 20.—A heavy thunderstorm occurred this afternoon, and for half an hour rain fell in torrents. The damage by water in the lower section of the city is very great. Sewers overflowed and basements filled.

Storm at Lancaster.

LANCASTER (Pa.), July 19.—This section was swept by a storm this afternoon, and many persons were injured by flying missiles. A circus tent was demolished and the spectators and performers were drenched.

Sale of Northern Pacific Bonds.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Northern Pacific has concluded negotiations to sell three million dollars of its mortgage 6 per cent bonds to the two largest banks in Germany, whose representatives recently examined the road.

Lockout Prevented.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 20.—A lockout to-morrow of 148 establishments in the manufacturers' protective association because of a labor combination to prevent operation of one, was averted by an appeal to business men by arbitration.

Protection Wanted.

SARATOGA, July 21.—Flax and hemp producers and spinners are to-day forward keeping the tariff at the present rate on flax, jute and hemp and raw material, and adding to rates on manufactured goods.

Meeting of the Tariff Commission.

LONG BRANCH, July 20.—All members of the tariff commission met here and the president has appointed a committee of 30 on order of business.

Strikers Stand Firm.

NEW YORK, July 20.—A mass meeting of workingmen to-night elected the striking freight-handlers to be firm and promised liberal financial aid.

POLITICAL.

Georgia Nominations.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 20.—In the democratic convention this morning, [illegible]'s name was withdrawn and A. H. Stephens was nominated for governor. The vote stood: Stephens 225; scattering, 3; not voting, 37. The following officers were then nominated by acclamation: N. C. Barnett, secretary of state; W. A. Wright, comptroller; Gen. D. N. Speer, treasurer; Clifford Anderson, attorney general, and Thomas Hardeman, nominated congressman at large.

Convention adjourned after adopting a platform reaffirming the principles of the Jeffersonian democracy, charging the present administration with partisan and corrupt interference with local elections, and prostitution of executive patronage for the purpose of extending its powers under color of collecting revenue.

Ohio Democratic Convention.

COLUMBUS, July 20.—The democratic state convention made John Follett temporary chairman. He arraigned the republican party and outlined the democratic policy for the campaign. The usual committees were appointed. The only contest was over John F. Thompson for chairman of the central committee. He was defeated in his own district, that claims two or three majority in the committee. Recess was taken. At two o'clock the committee on credentials reported no contests and Geo. H. Pendleton was made permanent chairman, but made no speech. John W. Okey, present incumbent, was nominated for supreme judge.

Political Notes.

OLNEY, Ills., July 19.—Democrats of the Sixteenth district had 150 ballots without nominating a congressman to-day.

DES MOINES, July 19.—The Seventh district greenback congressional convention nominated Hon. E. H. Gillette to-day.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., July 20.—Holman was renominated by democrats for congress.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., July 20.—Democratic convention of the thirteenth district this afternoon renominated Wm. L. Springer for congress.

OLNEY, Ill., July 21.—Aaron Shaw, of this place, formerly member of congress, was nominated to-day by delegates of the sixteenth congressional district on the 251st ballot.

The Next Move in Iowa.

Chicago Times.

Elated by the success of the campaign for prohibition in Iowa, which was due largely to the active labors of woman, the Iowa woman suffrage society are emboldened to hope that an amendment to the constitution giving to all citizens equal rights and privileges, irrespective of sex, may be adopted. It is their purpose to strive vigorously upon agitation to that end. The executive committee is now engaged in soliciting the state press for an expression of opinion upon its plan. It struck an enemy in Mr. [illegible] of an Iowa journal, who is still smarting under the defeat the rationalists received in the last encounter. He won't advocate the measure, nor permit it [illegible]. "During the late prohibition campaign the women took part, led by the preachers, and closed their efforts by appearing at the polls to bribe voters with tea, coffee and biscuits. We think, now that the campaign is ended, [illegible] better stay down. Woman with the ballot means a female party led by the preachers, and [illegible] to subvert our form of government, to which they are opposed [illegible]. As for the preachers, they will have to [illegible] their politics as their congregations [illegible] a company of lovely women, who will, at least, keep order, than is the company of men [illegible] be drunk."

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

House.

WASHINGTON, July 19.

After a lively session, in which [illegible] with [illegible] the previous question was ordered and a minority resolution [illegible] entitled [illegible] his seat [illegible] division. The resolution [illegible] seat was carried yeas 141, nays 5. [illegible] Ford, of Missouri; Rice of Massachusetts, [illegible] of New Jersey; Jones of Texas and Calkins, of Indiana.

Calkins in casting his vote, said he did so because he conscientiously believed the election should be regulated by the people, which he Randall regretted there were not more conscientious men on the republican side.

The speaker then stated that in looking up the former vote of yeas 141, nays 5, the clerk has made a mistake and that the vote should have been yeas 144, nays 0. It would, he said, have made a difference because the chair [illegible] thus making a quorum.

Randall objected to his voting as being against precedent.

Speaker [illegible] he is only following precedents set by the gentleman from Pennsylvania himself. When the speaker quoted from an occurrence in the 44th congress, the circumstantial case as follows: [illegible] suspension Monday, a bill was passed by exactly two thirds. On the following day Blaine, of Maine, stated he had voted in the negative, and Fuller, of Indiana, voted in the affirmative, but neither vote was recorded. This left the measure lacking one vote of the necessary two-thirds, and Speaker Randall thereupon claimed and exercised his constitutional right to vote on any question before the house and voted in the affirmative.

The journal of this proceeding having been read, Randall insisted it was not a similar case with the present, the time [illegible] objection was made, whereas in this there was no objection.

Blackburn of Kentucky said that for the sake of making precedents he would like to ask the chair whether the elevation of a member to the speaker's chair vested him with any right which no other member possessed, that of casting his vote after roll call had been completed and final result announced.

Keifer replied: "The speaker did not come within the rule applying to members, inasmuch as his name did not appear on the roll call." There was a good deal of feeling exhibited on the democratic side over what Blackburn in an aside to Robeson asserted to be an intentional error on the part of the clerk, and Calkins, in view of this assertion, offered a resolution directing investigation to be made into the matter. Blackburn having, however, left the chamber the resolution was postponed until to-morrow.

Smalls then appeared at the bar of the house and took the oath of office. The Alabama case of Smith vs. Shelley was then taken up; yeas 141, nays 1, and Ramsey of Massachusetts took the floor.

House adjourned.

Senate.

Miller of California moved that Logan's Chinese bill be referred to committee on foreign affairs.

Logan preferred the judiciary committee but without action the bill was laid aside and the tax bill by a vote of 27 to 25, was taken up. The question was upon Beck's amendment reducing the tax upon manufactured tobacco to 12 cents per pound, reduction to take effect upon Jan. 1 next.

Williams denounced the bill as a temporary party expedient resorted to by the republican majority to quiet popular clamor for reduction of taxation. It had been drawn in the interest of the moneyed classes.

Beck's amendment fixing the tobacco tax on and after Jan. 1, 1883, at 12 cents per pound was agreed to, yeas 29, nays 26.

Beck moved the adoption of his amendment on cigars and cigarettes and subsequent sections. Motion to retain the stamp tax on bank checks, drafts, orders and vouchers over $100 in amount was rejected; ayes 19, nays 39.

Voorhees moved to strike out of the bill the proposed reduction of taxes on bank capital and deposits and stamp tax on checks, etc.

Pending this motion Allison by unanimous consent called up house joint resolution continuing appropriations of the last fiscal year until July 31.

Several senators called attention to the absence of Hale to-day on account of illness as a reason why the naval bill had not been brought forward. The pending resolution then passed, the committee amendment having been withdrawn to save the necessity for return of resolution to the house.

Cockrell, from the military committee, reported with unimportant amendments the bill passed by the house April 5th to relieve certain soldiers of the late war from the charge of desertion; ordered printed and senate adjourned.

Senate.

WEDNESDAY, July 20.

Cockrell called up house bill to relieve certain soldiers of the late war from the charge of desertion. Details were discussed by Harrison, Hoar, Platt, Plumb and Blair. After some debate on order of business the pending bill was allowed to retain its place, but taken up 35 to 29.

Hale's motion to take up the naval bill was rejected, 29 to 16.

The pending amendment was stricken out repealing provisions as to bank capital deposits, checks, drafts, etc.

House.

Calkins called up the resolution offered yesterday, reciting what had been asserted by Blackburn, that the mistake made by the tally clerk in footing up the roll call was a falsification of the record, and directing a special committee to inquire into the matter.

Blackburn having denied he made any charge the resolution was withdrawn, and the house resumed consideration of the Alabama contested election, case of Smith vs. Shelley.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

General Grant Gives His Views on Mexico's Proper Policy.

THE END OF THE STAR ROUTE FARCE DRAWING NEAR.

The Northern Pacific Land Grant Said to be in Danger of Forfeiture by the Next Congress—Congressional Notes, Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20.—An amendment to the internal revenue bill reducing the tax on tobacco from sixteen cents to twelve cents per pound was adopted by senate in committee of the whole this afternoon, by a vote of 29 to 26. Senator Kellogg of Louisiana, and Jones of Nevada, voted with all democrats in affirmative. David Davis, Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, and Senator Mahone voted in the negative. The latter said he voted against the amendment because he desired the tax reduced to eight cents, and Cameron has privately avowed that he would support Mahone's proposed reduction. Senator Ingalls who favored the reduction did not vote, and it is therefore thought possible that before voting ends there will be a further reduction of eight cents. There is great diversity of opinion among republican senators as to the effect adoption of Beck's amendment will have upon the fate of the revenue bill. Several senators believe that it will open the doors to adoption of other amendments that will so weight the bill down that it will not be approved by the house at the present session. A few gentlemen who voted against adoption of the amendment express the opinion that a sufficient number of republicans will vote against the bill on final passage with the democratic opposition to defeat. On the other hand the impression of a majority of senators is that final passage of the bill is rendered more certain by the adoption of Beck's amendment, and that the house in particular will concur much more cheerfully in the other senate amendments. There is some doubt as to the adoption of the [illegible] clause, one or two republican senators having intimated they would not abide by the decision of the caucus on that point. It is estimated the reduction in taxation effected by adoption of Beck's amendment is about $10,000,000 assuming that there is not an increase of consumption.

It is rumored at the capitol this afternoon that the house committee on foreign affairs had practically decided to adopt Mr. Kasson's report on the Nicaraguan canal question, which report favors the incorporation of the company of which Gen. Grant will be president.

The minority report of house judiciary committee declares it should be the policy of government to withhold any further patents of land, and declare forfeited all grants to Northern Pacific Company not earned under provision of the granting act.

Grant's Opinion of Mexican Affairs.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Senor Romero, minister to the United States from the republic of Mexico, has received the following letter from Gen. Grant in reply to a communication asking views of the latter with regard to the mission of President Barrios to this country.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 12.

My Dear Sir: I am just in receipt of your letter of yesterday in regard to the arrival of President Barrios of Guatemala. I read in the morning papers of his reception at New Orleans and his intention of proceeding immediately to New York. In my judgment there is not the least ground of apprehension on account of his visit. He will unquestionably be received by the president and secretary of state of this great country as he ought to be as a representative of a neighboring republic; but annexation of territory will have but few advocates, and the treatment by the press of the country of such mental advocated interference in foreign countries, shows any scheme of that kind would be extremely unpopular. As to our government's interfering in the question of boundary between Mexico and Guatemala, I am sure there need not be any anxiety felt by Mexico. If Mexico and Guatemala should agree between themselves to refer any question between them to the United States as an arbitrator as Portugal and England did in regard to the conflicting claims to territory on the east coast of Africa, of course our government would hear statements of both parties and give its judgment in the matter referred to; but even then I don't suppose the United States would do any more than use its good offices to have the contending parties accept her decision, if either should feel inclined to reject the decision. I am not of course authorized to say a word for the administration on this subject; but I am certain I know the sentiment of the country on the question of annexation. If the good offices of the United States could be used effectively to induce the Central American republics to consolidate into one, I have no doubt that it would do so, but the request would have to come from all of them. Certainly the United States wouldn't attempt to coerce consolidation at the instance of the president of one state and in his personal interest. The most that would likely be done would be acquired through our representatives to those countries as to the feeling of the people and officials on the subject of consolidation.

Very truly yours,
U. S. GRANT.

The Northern Pacific Land Grant.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The Critic last night printed the following: "There can be no doubt there are members of congress who have more than common interest in the way stocks go. It is perceptible without very acute vision, to note a movement now on foot between New York stock brokers and holders of the Northern Pacific to unload their interest on account of prospective legislation by congress, and there has been intimated reasons for believing members of congress have interests in the arrangement. It is generally conceded among representatives that the lands granted the Northern Pacific will be declared forfeited by one of the next congress. Forfeiture of these lands will cause the bottom to completely fall out of Northern Pacific stock, as the real value of the stock is based on the immense domain of choice lands which has been granted by the government. With these facts staring holders of this stock in the face, it can be readily seen they would at once adopt a scheme to bo om the stock for the purpose of unloading and avoiding a crash. The Critic is in possession of private letters issued by a firm of New York stock brokers two weeks since, in which they call the attention of their customers to Northern Pacific stock, advising its purchase for various reasons, the chief among which are predictions made by Rufus Hatch, that the Northern Pacific will rise above other high railway stocks [illegible], and the fact that the Northern Pacific having a land grant equal to an empire in size, and which is growing rapidly in value, must push up its stock and hold it there, giving the Northern Pacific a far brighter outlook a year hence than any other road. Letters especially advise purchasers to hold their stocks, and state confidentially the brokers do not make recommendation to purchase this stock. It is stated on good authority the movement of these brokers are to the same direction and purchasers of this stock have again advised and pointed to the recent rise of a few points, as an indication that it is a wise investment. There are several reasons for concluding this to be a movement for those holding Northern Pacific to unload and that other brokers of stock are acting in concert with certain members of congress. The first letter bears a date very near that on which a majority of the house committee on judiciary agreed to adopt Mr. Townshend's report declaring forfeiture of Northern Pacific lands.

Star Route Trials.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—In response to the demand from counsel for defense, government was called upon by court to produce all of the authorities they use in their arguments. Then Merrick named them in order. Chandler and McSweeney, for defense, followed each in his way, arguing that conspiracy was a joint offense and one conspirator could not implicate another by his confession, as one could not be convicted of conspiracy. Totten, furthermore, said in his opinion the important question now was that time be allowed for continuance of this case. Court interrupted him to say that the question should not take any of the considerations by which court would allow itself to be influenced. Totten then went on to argue that the evidence of Walsh, on the Brady conversation, was inadmissible, because it was not pertinent and it did not concern acts done in furtherance of a design. Totten concluding, court adjourned.

Ingersoll held, first, confession of a fellow-conspirator cannot be accepted against an associate; second, confession cannot be used against himself until conspiracy has been otherwise proved, and, third, confession of acts not done in furtherance of object of conspiracy, cannot be received. He was followed by Wilson on the same side.

General Henkle then took up the argument. Attorney-General Brewster was present. Merrick then began closing for prosecution.

A Naval Bill Amendment.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senator Miller has introduced an amendment to the navy appropriation bill, which is approved by the committee on naval affairs, to take the place of clauses in house bill reducing the staff of the navy. The amendment provides for appointment of a commission of nine members, two senators to be designated by the president of the senate, three representatives to be designated by the speaker, the secretary of the navy and three officers of the navy to be designated by the president to consider all matters relating to proper reduction of the official list of the navy and adjustment of the several grades and corps thereof. The said commission to report to congress next session. The secretary of navy is authorized to detail an officer to act as secretary, and to employ such clerks and stenographers as may be necessary and commission with power to send for persons and papers.

Hoover's Appointment.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Wilson W. Hoover, of San Jose, was today nominated associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona. In addition to the endorsements given Hoover from the Pacific coast he is backed by influential friends of the president living in New York. Secretary Lincoln also urged the president to make the appointment.

Logan's Object in Presenting Amendment to the Chinese Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Senator Logan [illegible] this morning the [illegible] Chinese bill introduced by him yesterday to amend the bill restricting Chinese immigration. California senators expected Logan would insist that it should be sent immediately to the judiciary committee. Senator Miller believes a majority of senate will vote to refer the bill to committee on foreign relations. He says that at that reference he thinks there is no danger of passage of the bill as it can unquestionably be defeated when the question of reference again comes before senate. Mr. Miller and Mr. Farley will each in all probability make speeches showing the inexpediency of passage of Logan's bill. It is hinted that the senator from Illinois made his demonstration yesterday more in the interest of certain railroads whose support he expects to have in his fight for re-election to the senate than with any hope of amending the Chinese bill.

No Word from Our Naval Squadron.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—No official advices have been received at the navy department from Admiral Nicholson since the bombardment of Alexandria. "A few days before the bombardment," said Secretary Chandler to-night, "we telegraphed the admiral to send a ship to Tunis and Tripoli to remove the records of the U. S. consular office in those cities, as congress had failed to make an appropriation for the maintenance of a consul at Tripoli and Tunis. On the morning of the day the bombardment began we received a telegram from Admiral Nicholson announcing that fact, and saying that the order of the department would be obeyed. The department has not heard from him since. The story telegraphed from Alexandria that Admiral Nicholson informed Arabi Bey that he would fire upon forts if forts fired upon the United States fleet is false. Except our marines were ordered ashore to aid in the preservation of order in Alexandria at the request of the Egyptian authorities, and to protect the American consulate."

The End Drawing Near.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—From all appearances the end of the star route cases is near at hand. Already greatly weakened by repeated adverse decisions from court the case of prosecution has been disastrously prejudiced by action of the special grand jury in refusing to bring in fresh presentments, and the enormous trial which has already, according to the statement of prosecution, cost the government over half a million dollars, is now evidently near a close. The matters which were presented to the special grand jury differ materially from those which are now being considered, but to the public generally there is but one kind of star route fraud. To-day court was engaged in hearing several long arguments mainly upon the admissibility of the evidence of contractor Walsh. It seems to be understood by prosecution that if this point is decided against them the next step in order will be a verdict for defendants.

NOTES FROM THE FRONT.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

CABINET LANDING, July 15.

Mrs. E. Green is lying dangerously ill at her residence.

Mrs. Capt. Forbes is visiting with the family of J. C. Kincaid.

Miss D. Hickey, formerly of Salem, is sojourning at the front.

E. L. Shannon is running Clandios ferry, about 50 miles from here.

Measles, in all their glory and pestiness, are visiting families here.

The telegraph office has been removed from across the river to this side.

Deer are plenty and fearless, and are easily caught provided one gets up before they do.

J. S. Tibbetts, the accommodating purser of the Henry Villard, is visiting friends here.

Dr. Littlefield has received a large stock of drugs and groceries to be used in the hospital.

Mr. George B. Harmon, of Dayton, W. T., is visiting his brother, S. O. Harmon, at the hospital.

Mr. Eddy, of the firm of Eddy, Hammond & Co., lumber contractors, is visiting with Supt. Ballou.

Mr. Knowman of Missoula, timber inspector of the N. P. R. R., is sojourning with engineer Kinsbury.

Bailey's headquarters have moved to the front, making the north side of the river look lonesome and forlorn.

Capt. Pease is at the front, superintending the building of the new boat to ply between Rock Island and the crossing.

Peaches have made their appearance, selling at 3 for 25 cents. Pears find a slow sale at 5 for 25 cents. Fruit is very rare.

The Chinamen have quite a cemetery here. There are some ten graves, most having met their death through accident.

Nert Leslie, who shot himself in the foot about three weeks ago, has been removed to the hospital, as the member is getting worse.

Merchants are leaving as fast as teams can take them away. The company's buildings are being taken down preparatory to shipment to the front.

The sisters of charity were soliciting for contributions to rebuild their mission at Farmington, W. T., which was burnt. They collected a good round sum.

James S. Mullin, in the company's employ, fell off a hand car while same was in motion and run over. He sustained some internal injuries and is cared for at company's hospital.

A semi-weekly stage route has been established between this place and Rock Island, carrying the mails and Wells Fargo's box. It is a source of great convenience to business men and traveling public generally.

Major Jordan, with his daughter, Miss Mary Jordan, passed through Cabinet Landing on their way to Fort Missoula. They are accompanied by Lieut. Avery. Miss Jordan has been visiting with General Wheaton at Fort Coeur d'Alene.

A Chinaman was found dead on the grade about half a mile from here. There were no external signs of violence, and, as no inquest was held, nothing is known of cause of death. Another Chinaman was lying near the grade very sick.

George Sinclair, who had both bones of his leg broken above the ankle, so that they protruded through the flesh, some two months ago, is improving fast and has ventured out on crutches. He came nigh losing the limb, but is over that danger.

C. J. Clayton, while coming down the hill with a load of wood, [illegible] brake gave way. Mr. Clayton jumped from off his wagon, falling in such a manner that the wheels passed over his leg and right foot. Fortunately he sustained only slight bruises.

The shores of the river here are lined every evening with Celestials fishing for suckers and chubs. Some of these chubs resemble carp very much and are good eating. Many caught have weighed as much as 7 pounds each. Trout are frequently caught and are known as lake trout.

On the 11th, Mr. Clunas, ridge contractor of the company, lost a purse containing about $400 in checks besides other valuable papers. A Chinaman found the book and honorably took it to one of the merchants to be delivered to its owner. Mr. Clunas very liberally rewarded the Chinaman for his honesty.

Salem Statesman: Nothing having been said, of late, concerning the woolen mills and no apparent work having been done, some of our citizens seem to think that they are not going to be built, but such is not the case. The machinery has already been selected in New York, and a practical woolen manufacturer will shortly be sent from Scotland to bring the machinery here and take charge of the business. The plans have already been drawn, the dimensions being as follows: The building is to be of brick, five stories high, 140 feet front, 55 feet wide, and will have two wings of 60 feet each attached thereto. It is to be erected on the site first selected for the flouring mills, between the old F. N. Cooke place and Mrs. Thatcher's, on the bank of the river. Work will be commenced as soon as the flouring mills are under sufficient headway to warrant the commencement on the factory.

Arabi Pasha Again Recovering from His Lethargy.

DERVISCH PASHA'S DUPLICITY IN RELATION TO THE KHEDIVE.

The English Army to be Mobilized at Once—An Attack on Alexandria Expected in a Few Days.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ALEXANDRIA, July 20.—That Arabi Pasha has been greatly encouraged by British inaction is made manifest by his activity. His patrols have penetrated within five miles of the city walls. Palace officials are continually asking when we are going to act against him. There is great satisfaction at the palace at the departure of Dervisch Pasha. Officials ascribe much of the present evil to his intrigues. He is suspected of communicating with the rebels the last few days.

De Lesseps has arrived here. He had an interview with the khedive to-day. The chief difficulty is in restoring order, as trouble continues to arise through quarrels and conduct of the Greeks. Hatred of them by Arabs is intense. Lord Charles Beresford is taking every precaution against an outbreak. He has issued notice that he will make no distinction between Europeans and natives. The custom house is re-opened.

Notes from Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, July 20.—The eastern telegraph company's land line between Suez and Alexandria is intact to within sixteen miles of Alexandria. Suez is quiet and the town deserted. Efforts to stop the yacht conveying Dervisch Pasha to Constantinople were unsuccessful. Arabi Pasha has ordered natives to pay taxes to him for war purposes. Two large fires broke out to-day in opposite quarters of the town, evidently the work of incendiaries. The manager of the water works has ordered all old Roman wells throughout the town to be emptied, cleaned and refilled, the water supply being completely at Arabi's mercy. Laborers are scarce, and the work will probably take three weeks. Considerable progress having been made in clearing the ruins from roadways the khedive was enabled to drive through town to-day.

General War Notes.

ALEXANDRIA, July 20.—Arabi Pasha proposes to kill all the Turks in Egypt. He says there are not many throats to cut and he had better cut them now.

There are a few American and German sailors still at their respective consulates, but with this exception the city is held solely by the English.

Gen. Allison made a reconnoisance in the direction of Arabi's camp in order to see what better ground might be chosen for our front, as we are unable to see more than two yards from the present lines. Arabi has a steam launch on Mahmoudyeh canal bringing him provisions and this probably explains why he has not cut the canal. Arabi shot the Egyptians sent out by the English to get horses.

It is stated that the foreign consuls intend to demand compensation for injury done to their property by Arabs firing houses, alleging that had troops been landed soon after the bombardment no houses would have been burned.

All available railroad employes are being collected and everything betokens an early initial move on our part. Gen. Roberts is reported as landed at Suez.

Reports come from Cairo that Arabi has sent a party of soldiers to pillage the capitol, but the commander executed them. Although severity is necessary for the purpose of re-establishing order the actual executions do not exceed 8 and total killed, 20.

Arabi Pasha talks of advancing upon Alexandria Thursday. This is impossible, but he will doubtless enter Ramleh.

An American artillery officer has expressed the opinion that the immense superiority of the marine artillery employed in the bombardment practically leaves the question relative to the power of land and marine artillery unaffected.

A wall fell to-day on a carriage containing four persons, all of whom were killed.

ALEXANDRIA, July 20.—Arabi Pasha is trying to establish relations with Arabs in Tripoli and Southern Tunis.

The conference, yesterday, chiefly considered temporary measures for security of Suez canal. The idea which found most favor was that protection of the canal be intrusted to England and France in conjunction with a third power. No decision was arrived at owing to want of instructions from respective governments of conferees.

ATHENS, July 20.—A number of refugees are preparing to return to Egypt.

The identical note of the powers has been drafted but has not yet received the sultan's sanction. The statement that the sultan had already determined to reject the proposal of the conference for Turkish occupation of Egypt is wholly premature.

LONDON, July 20.—The Daily News learns if government considers it necessary to bring troops from India to Egypt they will ask sanction of parliament.

An Alexandria correspondent telegraphs, "I possess copies of telegrams showing that Dervish Pasha has been in communication with Arabi up to the moment of his departure."

De Lesseps has informed Seymour that passage of men-of-war through the Suez canal constitutes a breach of its neutrality.

The force of Arabi Pasha is increasing. He is regaining his influence because of the delay of the British troops. His scouts have been seen seven miles from Alexandria.

The Porte Still Hangs Fire.

LONDON, July 20.—The Times says: The hesitation of the porte at moments when hesitation is fatal, has forced the British government to the conclusion that the invitation to the conference has been virtually declined, and nothing remains for it but to carry out by its own efforts the measures necessary to restore order in Egypt. There will be, accordingly, no further delay in carrying out the preparations for military action in Egypt. Definite orders will be issued to-day for despatch of a force for pushing ahead the work which the porte is held to have declined to undertake.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 20.—The porte has sent an imperial order to Arabi Pasha not to make a movement.

The Porte Replies.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 20.—The Porte has replied to the identical note of the powers regarding the dispatch of Turkish troops to Egypt. The Porte proposes assembling a fresh conference. The Spanish ambassador informed his colleagues Spain intends to station three gunboats at each end of Suez canal to escort Spanish and Manilla steamers through. She also sends four iron clads to Alexandria.

The Reply to the Powers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 20.—The text of the porte's reply to the identical note of the powers is as follows: If the porte has not hitherto decided on its own initiative to send troops to Egypt it is because it was convinced vigorous measures were avoidable. Observing with satisfaction that the powers have formally and repeatedly recorded their deference to the incontestable and unquestioned rights and sovereignty of the sultan, the undersigned, by the sultan's order informs the ambassadors the porte consents to participate in the conference. It is said the conferees meet to-day to discuss the reply to this communication. It is thought probable a fresh invitation to the conference will now be addressed to the porte.

The Army Mobilized.

LONDON, July 20.—Two additional batteries are warned to prepare for active service, making eight batteries in all detailed for Egypt. The whole army corps has been mobilized at Aldershot, and arrangements have been made to embark troops at Portsmouth, Southampton and Liverpool, if necessary.

The lord mayor's fund for relief of refugees from Egypt at Malta amounts to £1,000, and the governor has written to the lord mayor that £30,000 are necessary.

Cabinet Meeting.

LONDON, July 20.—A hurriedly convened meeting of the cabinet was held this afternoon. It is stated the meeting was called to consider the telegram from Lord Dufferin, ambassador at Constantinople, and arrangements for military operations.

Resignation of the French Cabinet Reported.

PARIS, July 20.—In chamber of deputies today Goblet, minister of interior and worship, replying to the radical interpellation demanding establishment of a central mairie for Paris, moved order of the day pure and simple, which was rejected, 278 to 172. [illegible] then adopted by a vote of 218 to 176 a resolution that the order of the day was [illegible] the creation of a central mairie, and in consequence of these votes the [illegible] was summoned for a cabinet council. The number who moved interpellation quoted the [illegible] government in favor of its object, therefore both votes were unfavorable to government. At 8 o'clock this afternoon it is stated the cabinet resigned.

LONDON, July 20.—A dispatch from Paris at 8:30 P. M. states that report of the resignation of the ministry is not yet confirmed. A council of ministers will be held to-morrow morning at Elysee. It is considered probable the difficulty will be settled [illegible].

Resignations Presented.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Gone to Stay.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The steamship Serapis, which sails for Hongkong to-morrow, will carry away 600 Chinese passengers. Only 70 of these could obtain certificates enabling them to return to this country. The remaining 530 are composed of ragged and diseased off-scourings of the slums, hospitals and pest-houses of Chinatown. For some time past well-to-do Chinese merchants who contribute most to the charitable funds of the six companies, have been groaning under the burden of assessments made necessary to support the fast increasing army of old, worn-out and diseased Chinese. It finally occurred to these merchants that to keep this penniless and sick army, to feed, clothe and house it, and finally to send their bones to China, would be a much more expensive charity than to bundle the whole lot off at once, and thereby end the source of expense altogether. The overcrowded condition of Chinatown since the present great rush assumed such proportions, and resulting in dire distress for room, made it doubly expedient that cleaning out of the drones should begin at once. Agents of the six companies were sent throughout Chinatown to look up members of the miserable army and notify them they were to be shipped off by the Serapis. The six companies defray expenses of shipping of these diseased paupers. The appearance of this army of mendicants as they were marshaled on the dock to-day beggared description.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The British sea tramp Carmbrain, which arrived several weeks ago from Hongkong with a cargo of coolies, sailed this afternoon. Her destination is Hongkong. She carries away a large number of Chinese passengers, but only 150 have custom house certificates granting them the privilege of returning to this country.

A Murderer Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Thomas McConnell was arrested, yesterday for the murder of John Riley, an aged shoemaker, last Monday. Riley had befriended McConnell and wife, taking them into his own house, but subsequently, losing health, had become dependent upon them, when they attempted to eject him, and during the struggle Riley received fatal injuries.

Held for Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Examination of Luke Carty, the water-front groceryman, who killed Peter Goetz on the night of the 4th inst., in police court, resulted in defendant's being held to answer before the superior court on charge of murder. Bail was refused, Carty being ordered into custody of the sheriff.

Shipping Notes.

The British steamer Triumph, an ocean tramp, is due with a cargo of about 500 coolies from Hongkong. It is thought she has also aboard the coolies of the ship Mary Tatham that was wrecked on the coast of Japan some time ago. These two cargoes will aggregate about 1100 persons.

To-day the body of a man came ashore near the Cliff House and was conveyed to the morgue. It proved to be the remains of J. O. Detro, purser of the ill fated steamer Escambia. This makes the fifth body which has been washed ashore from the foundered vessel.

The British steamer Malabar was allowed to dock to-day and empty her cargo of 795 coolies into Chinatown.

The death rate this week promises to considerably exceed that of last week. Over 90 deaths were recorded at noon to-day, as against 68 for the whole of last week. The causes of death are more general than usual and it is a noteworthy fact that pneumonia and phthisis have been extraordinary light.

FIVE HUNDRED MILLIONS.

An ingenious writer, in a study of a census bulletin on the density of population in the United States, made facts which it should be borne in mind that the estimate ... of five hundred millions as the possible ... population of this country may actually be reached. That would be ten times our present number of inhabitants. The present average density is 17.29 persons to a square mile. With ten times as many persons the average density would be 173 to the square mile, which is less, indeed, than the present density of population in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and a little more than that in New Jersey and Connecticut. And the constant increase even in the most densely populated states shows that the limit has not yet been reached. But to avoid erroneous conclusions it is well to remember that not one of those states supports its inhabitants by its own crops. The whole east draws food products from the west. There is a limit, of course, to the productive power of our most fertile states. Iowa now has 29 persons to the square mile. Increase the density of her population to that of Massachusetts and she would have 12,200,000 inhabitants. Great as her agricultural resources are, she might not be able to feed such a population; or, if she were, she certainly would not export any great amount of food. Yet Iowa is as capable of supporting a population of the density of that of Massachusetts as any equal section of our whole country. If, therefore, our most fertile states could do no more than support a population as dense as that of those states where the maximum density now exists, it would become a question how the whole country could support a population of five hundred millions; for there are waste acres, whose extent would aggregate hundreds of thousands of square miles which certainly will support only a meagre population. Texas, undoubtedly, has enormous resources. Were she as thickly settled as Massachusetts is to-day her population would be over 52,000,000; or greater than that of the whole United States at the present time. But with all her extent and fertility, could Texas support so many? The density of her population would exceed that of France; and France, with the best industry, and the most highly-cultivated soil in the world, does not produce food enough for her own population. Still, Texas and other states would, certainly yield products other than food, with which food might be bought; but if all the states had so great a population, this food would probably have to come from other countries, and would therefore be too dear. It is likely that our population will run pretty rapidly up to one hundred millions, and then less rapidly up to fifty millions more. After that the increase will certainly be slower. Our vacant lands will all be exhausted, and there will be no attractions for people from foreign countries compared with those presented now.

Take another illustration. California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington have an area of about 460,000 square miles. A population of 173 persons to the square mile would give a total of about eighty millions. Our soil produces enormously, but no such proportion of it can be cultivated as that of Iowa or Illinois. It seems highly improbable therefore that these four divisions could be made by any industry to support eighty million inhabitants. Massachusetts maintains her large number by employing them in a multitude of industries for the products of which she finds a market among the food producing states of the west. But the west could not have so dense a population without also employing vast numbers in industries outside of agriculture; and in that case where would be the market for the products of its mechanical and manufacturing industries? Where, indeed, with the west supplying itself, would be the market for the goods produced by the east? National vanity may boast of a population of five hundred millions as manifest destiny; but a little examination of the grounds on which the boast is made will suggest many doubts whether time will ever bring its fulfillment. It is in the very remote future—centuries hence—should it come at all.

A POSSIBLE ADVANTAGE TO THE UNITED STATES.

The war in Egypt may not close the Suez canal, and yet it will probably increase the risks of commerce between Europe and Asia. Should all shipping to and from British India, which has been accustomed to take the short route through the isthmus, be compelled to resort to the long, tedious and expensive route around the cape of Good Hope, the export of cereals from India to Europe will certainly be delayed and perhaps diminished, and there would be a corresponding demand upon other sources of supply, greatly to the advantage of this country. The British trade returns for May, the latest at hand, report 8,309,285 bushels of wheat as received at British ports in the first five months of the present year, against 22,877,736 bushels from the United States, of which only 9,028,620 bushels came from our Atlantic ports. The 13,849,116 other bushels were derived from our ports on the Pacific, representing the grain fields of Oregon and California. So far as wheat is involved our stake in the Egyptian war consists of a market for an additional quantity amounting to a per annum of 20,063,484 bushels, if maintained for a year at the average rate for the first five months of 1882. The raw cotton from British India to England for the same period footed up 201,200,944 pounds, valued at £4,759,400; from Egypt 87,124,124 pounds, valued at £2,896,521, and from the United States 58,808,890 pounds, valued at £15,867,971. Both quantity and value from the two former sources of supply amounted to nearly half of what they were from this country. War in Egypt may cut off the supply from there, and greatly interfere with the supply from British India and other Asiatic sources. It thus appears that we may have a considerable stake in the Egyptian war—a stake which may be vastly increased if the conflict should lead to serious European complications and an extended theatre of war. This last, however, is now scarcely to be apprehended.

BRITISH IRON-CLADS.

The telegraph reported that the thick armor of the Inflexible and of the Superb, two of the heavy iron-clads of the fleet which bombarded Alexandria, was pierced through and through by solid shot from the Egyptian batteries. It was a mistake, growing out of an erroneous idea of the manner in which those vessels are armored. Both were struck several times, but were not pierced in the manner described. The battery of the Inflexible is within her turrets and it is this part of the ship which is cased with twenty-four inches of armor. It was not possible to do so with any gun which the Egyptians had. The ship, outside of the turret, and citadel, as it is called, enclosing them, some 110 feet in length, is not armored, and it is these portions of the vessel which was pierced. The Superb is a casemate ship, but it is only at her armored redoubt that there are 12 inches of metal, the rest of the ship being not very heavily protected; and as in the case of the Inflexible, it was the unprotected part that was pierced.

The iron-clads of Admiral Seymour's fleet are among the most formidable ever constructed. The Alexandra, the flag-ship, is a double screw iron vessel of 9340 tons displacement, with a steam capacity of 8610 horse-power, carrying a battery of 12 rifle guns of very large calibre and throwing to a great distance any elongated shot with all the accuracy of a rifle and with immense penetrating power. It is the most stupendous ordnance of modern times; before which stone walls and brick fortifications can be dashed down as though they were pasteboard. Heavy armor plating and earthworks alone it is believed can stand against it. It has yet to be tested to what extent these can successfully resist such ponderous weapons. The Sultan, also of 12 heavy rifle guns, is an iron screw, armor plated, 9290 tons and 8610 horse-power. The Superb, of 16 heavy rifle guns, is a screw ship, armor plated 9100 tons ... horse power. These ships were specially mentioned in the dispatches as concerning the bombardment. There are others in the fleet of the same formidable character. They are described as of one of the magnificent condition of the British navy. Others of England's great ironclads are en route to join Admiral Seymour's squadron. When they are all assembled it will be the most formidable fleet the world has ever seen. There has been nothing like it either in ancient or modern times. Compared with these enormous floating batteries the miserable little wooden vessels of the American squadron are fit only to show the difference between a first class naval power and ourselves. But while the British have a fleet we have the satisfaction of knowing that we possess statesmen like Robeson.

A PROTEST.

We print this morning the text of an address to the fishery interest by a committee of the Portland board of trade. It presents the danger of destruction of the Columbia river salmon and loss of an important industry, appeals to the sense of justice of the cannerymen and threatens with the law. Good counsels failing, the committee pledges the moral and material support of the board of trade in an effort to punish those who break the law. But it is thought that severe measures will not be necessary. The proposition to extend the fishing season is as yet a proposition merely. Not a single canneryman has announced that he will fish beyond the 31st inst., while one, at least, has taken an active part in the effort to prevent others from doing so, as the following letter will testify:

ASTORIA, July 19, 1882.

Mr. C. H. Dodd, Chairman Board of Trade Committee, Portland, Ogn.—We understand that efforts are being made by your honorable body to prevent fishing in August. Being largely interested, we sincerely hope you will continue the agitation and lend your influence to do so; and also to so amend our laws at the next session of the legislature as to make it obligatory for parties interested to obey the law to the letter. Salmon spawn in the Columbia and millions of young fish and spawn are being destroyed. If we have not enterprise enough to establish and keep up a hatchery, we ought to at least allow nature to do the work.

Yours truly,
C. LEINENWEBER,
For Badollet & Co.

Doubtless others take the same view of the situation and it is thought that their influence supported by the unanimous sentiment of the people at large, will prevail.

As nearly as can be ascertained, 150 persons lost their lives by the recent tornadoes in Iowa, 400 more were injured, and property worth $5,000,000 was destroyed. The movement of the Grinnell storm-cloud was about 45 miles an hour. Quite another thing was the velocity of the wind in its circular motion. It carried up stones fifteen inches square, and to lift such a stone would require a pressure of 200 pounds to the square foot. A loaded freight-car weighing 68,400 pounds was overturned, requiring a pressure of 112 pounds to the square foot, which would give a minimum velocity to the wind of 149 miles an hour.

Efforts to secure harmonious action among the republicans of Pennsylvania have come to a final failure and will not be resumed. One thing only would bring harmony, to-wit: the death or abdication of Boss Cameron. He now resolves to "crush" those who reject or repudiate his dictatorship. That is a supper at which he will sit down to eat, but be eaten, as Hamlet explains.

If anything on earth should be taxed it is tobacco and whisky. Both should be taxed as heavily as they will possibly bear. Yet congress has reduced the tax on tobacco, and an effort is making to reduce the tax on whisky. Meantime all such unnecessary articles as sugar, clothing and carpets are heavily taxed, and no effort is made to relieve them of the burden.

An ordinance before the council to prevent the braying of stationary bands of music for advertising professors, ought to pass. Picnic bands posted along the dock ways make a carnival of discord on Sundays, which is an offence to thousands. It is surprising that the measure has met with objection in the council.

We have now a prohibitory law in this city. It is contrary to law for the saloons to be open on Sunday. But the authorities of the law don't know it, and the people wouldn't let them enforce it if they did.

The work of dragging on the bar stopped yesterday. It is feared that, owing to a change of currents and the operations of fishermen, the improvement will be only temporary.

READ THE FOLLOWING ENDORSEMENTS!

Portland, Or., July 6, 1882.

We, the undersigned, representing the different fire insurance companies doing business in this city, witnessed a fire test on Saturday evening, June the 24th by Mr. D. M. Dunne, of the firm of Messrs. KELLY, DUNNE & CO., on a section of shingled roof, painted with two coats of THE CALIFORNIA FIRE AND WATERPROOF PAINT CO'S PAINT. The roof was subjected to a strong fire, composed of dry kindlings saturated with coal oil, for TWENTY MINUTES. On clearing away the fire, the shingles were only charred. We strongly recommend it for shingled roofs, as we are satisfied that any roof painted with it will not catch fire from brands or any ordinary fire exposure.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 21, 1882

[illegible] THE DAILY OREGONIAN [illegible]

CITY.

[illegible] picking the pocket of H. M. [illegible] property. A watch chain [illegible] several others testified [illegible] the prisoner to await the action of the grand jury [illegible]

[illegible] with preparations [illegible] to-night, from six o'clock to nine, at the residence of Mr. P. C. Schuyler, corner Fifth and Main, for the benefit of the Children's Home. They will have fancy articles, flowers and refreshments, and they ask patronage from the many friends of the deserving institution. [illegible] begs to remind those who will attend the concert and the circus to-night, to start [illegible] gratify the masses by showing [illegible] of their efforts, and add to the comforts of [illegible] and twenty children within the [illegible] home.

INTEREST IN THE EXCURSION.—A dispatch [illegible] from San Francisco that [illegible] there in regard to the Alaska excursion is as great as in Portland and vicinity. A large number have already secured accommodations from San Francisco, while from Portland, yesterday, twelve state-room names were handed in. The trip is creating a great deal of attention among our city people, especially lovers of moonshine, as the moon will be at its full during the trip. The voyage is delightful, as the archipelago of islands forms a breastwork against the storms of the ocean, while there will be the additional attractions of the glaciers, icebergs and aurora borealis, the northern cross, nightless days and a barber on board.

PASSING OF THE BUZZ SAW.—G. F. Newbury, while working at a saw in the Oregon furniture factory, lost his hold on a piece of wood and his hand was badly cut. The stick, catching on the saw, was hurled against his side, knocking him to the floor. His wound was dressed and he was taken to his home, but it is feared he has sustained dangerous internal injuries. Michael Lantenglass, another employe in the same factory, suffered a slight accident from a buzz saw. A sliver was torn from the wood he was cutting and struck him upon the hand, tearing out a large piece of flesh.

IMPROVEMENTS IN EAST PORTLAND.—N. K. West's new store building on Fourth, near A street, is nearly completed. It is 28 by 50 feet in the clear, with a height of sixteen feet, making a splendid business room. The upper floor will be divided into offices. A. J. Knott's fine new residence is enclosed, and the painters are expected to commence the outside work to-morrow. Ross & Story's three story brick building is progressing finely. The cellar is finished and the first floor timbers are laid out, and the brick work of the first story is being rapidly pushed forward.

ANOTHER BOY DROWNED.—Yesterday, just before noon, Albert Schweitzer, aged ten years, son of Mrs. Schweitzer, who lives on First street, opposite the St. George Hotel, was playing on a boom of logs near Smith Bros. & Co's sawmill. He had been in the habit of going there, and was seen by the man in charge of the logs. The man went into the mill for a moment, and when he returned the lad had disappeared. His hat floating on the water told the story of drowning. The body was recovered just before dark.

BAGGING BROOCHES.—David Broyles, the carter, arrested on two charges of larceny of valuable articles from household furniture which he was moving, had his final examination to-day. One charge was for the larceny of a pair of gold sleeve buttons belonging to Mr. Marx, and the other the larceny of a pair of gold bracelets belonging to Mrs. Geo. Parsons. He was held to answer before the grand jury on both charges, and his bail was fixed at $400.

SMASHUP OF THE RAILROAD FERRY.—The follower head on the piston rod in one of the cylinders of the Railroad ferry crumbled to pieces just as the boat was entering the slip on Wednesday night. The engineer heard the attendant noise and promptly shut off steam, thus averting a probable explosion which would otherwise have followed. The boat did not run yesterday and is laid up for repairs.

WHEAT IN THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY.—W. S. McCready, of this city, returned recently from a trip to the valley. He passed through McMinnville, Amity, Sheridan and the surrounding country, and says that the wheat outlook is excellent along the whole line. Mr. McCready has been over 30 years in the northwestern wheat-growing regions and is well posted on everything relating thereto.

MISHAP TO THE STEAMER OCCIDENT.—Last Tuesday night the Occident ran into three floating trees, the branches of which penetrated her sides and wrecked her cabin quite seriously. It was very dark and she was running close to shore when the accident occurred. After some trouble she backed out of the scrape and came on to the Ash street dock in this city. Yesterday she was taken to Oregon City for repairs.

TO-MORROW'S MATINEE.—Those who expect to see "Hazel Kirke" to-morrow afternoon should secure seats to-day to avoid the certain rush. The opportunity of seeing such sterling artists as compose the Madison Square Company may not come again until the completion of the Northern Pacific, when Portland as far as amusements are concerned, will be on an equal footing with San Francisco.

LEFT FOR CABINET LANDING.—Dr. Littlefield, who is in this city in constant attendance upon Mrs. Horace Thielsen, will be relieved, during his stay here of the charge of the hospital of the N. P. R. R. at Cabinet Landing, by Dr. Philip Harvey, who started for the front yesterday morning.

ORIGIN OF THE COLFAX FIRE.—A letter received to-night, says that the recent fire originated in a livery stable next door to H. H. McCord's agricultural implement warehouse and not in D. M. Osborne & Co's warehouse, as first announced. The loss to the latter firm was only $1000.

THE STEAMERS.—The Columbia crossed in at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, left for Portland at 5:30 and arrived here about half-past 2 this morning. The State crossed to sea at noon.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce a decision in this court this morning, in the case of the Oregon Shoe and Boot and Leather Manufacturing Company vs. Kwong Tai.

NOT OUT OF DANGER.—The condition of Mrs. Horace Thielsen was somewhat better yesterday and the pain less intense, but she is not yet considered out of danger.

THE CIRCUS.

When an OREGONIAN man presented his ticket at the circus tent, last night, a few minutes past 8 o'clock, he was told that it was "no use; a quart cup wouldn't hold a gallon, nor would a circus tent the whole town." Fifteen hundred people had been crowded into space intended for a thousand, and there was absolutely no room for any more. "You're one of hundreds," said the ticket taker, "who will have to wait till next performance." But the word OREGONIAN softened the ticket taker's heart, and he soon found a back way into the canvas, and after some loud talk a top seat, which the young man took and was thankful. There was a perfect sea of people and all smiling, from little girls of four to grey-haired men of eighty. First came an interesting horizontal bar exercise, followed by feats by the trained horses. The doings of these animals were indeed marvelous. They moved this way or that, at command, with the precision of soldiers, and performed half a hundred wonderful tricks. Their intelligence was surprising and proved that "horse-sense" is equal almost to human sense. Another interesting feature was the performance of the clown horse, whose antics were indeed wonderful. Amid the confusion of orders he never failed to obey his master, the clown, in the face of opposite directions from the ring master who handled the whip. The equestrian performance of Miss Kitty Cross, was fearless and graceful and won loud applause. A half dozen really fine gymnasts left nothing to be desired by the lovers of athletics. Particularly fine was the tight-rope performance of Mons. Solgrist. The clown like most clowns was flat, but as a whole the performance was really good and well worth the tax at the door. Another performance this evening.

Second Day, and Three Highly Contested Races.

WALLA WALLA MAID'S TROT.

Collier Wins the Mile-and-a-Quarter, and Renick Gallops the Half-Mile Race

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] nearly twenty thousand dollars' worth [illegible] ancestors of the cheaters of Judge Hilton [illegible] the right horse [illegible] over the stand showed the following extremes in the 2:30 class: J. Beach's b m Maggie Arnold, [illegible]; H. C. Hogaboom's blk m Walla Walla Maid, by Belle Isle; and Jas. Misner's b g Stranger, by [illegible]. The pool selling opened about even [illegible] of the two mares, but the black filly soon became a hot favorite, as follows:

Walla Walla Maid	$10	$12	$20	$15	$12
Maggie Arnold	10	10	12	10	7
Stranger	2	3	4	[illegible]	2
	$22	$25	$36	$25	$21

Yet the betting was devoid of spirit and there were strong talks about an Ethiopian in the county fuel, but we failed to see anything which looked like it. There was also a loud talk of unseating both drivers of the two non-favorite horses, but we believe there was no good ground for it. In the first place Mr. Jay Beach's

[illegible]

A lot of trotting horses more fit for the [illegible] youngsters. It was folly to talk of unseating his driver, for in the first place Mr. Beach has nothing to gain by losing races and in the second place there is no other man who can drive his horses as fast as McManus, the unseated driver. There could be no doubt but that she was beaten fairly by Pedro at Hillsboro and there is no doubt but she had receded in form since that time instead of improving in condition. The first heat was a jog for Stranger, who won by about three lengths from the Maid, Maggie dropping within her distance. The next heat was won by the Maid in 2:30, with Maggie so close up that many insisted the bay mare was held back. Next came a heat for poor Maggie, but it was too hollow and did not affect the betting, although the judges yielded to the pressure and put up Late Lindsey to drive the race out; but the mare seemed weak and was unable to hold her way with the black filly, who closed up the race as she liked. We append a recapitulation:

Purse $400 for 2:30 class; mile heats, 3 in 5.

H. S. Hogaboom's bk m Walla Walla Maid ... 2 1 2 1 1
Jay Beach's b m Maggie Arnold ... 3 2 1 2 2
Jas. Mizner's b g Stranger ... 1 3 3 3 3
Time, 2:30—2:30—2:30—2:30—2:31½.

Then the crowd surged up to the pool-stand again and began canvassing from a financial point of view the merits of the

MILE-AND-A-QUARTER DASH,

For all ages, for which Collier, Howell, Jim Merritt and Caddie R. were stripped. The big brown mare had lost all of that superb form which characterized her appearance in that memorable contest with Trade Dollar, at Salem, in July last. She was nervous and fretful, while Jim Merritt was furious. He plunged and tore away, trying to upset McCaugh, who clung to him like a leech. At last the flag fell, and he went away "like arrows from the Tartar's bow," hotly followed by "old Methuselah," the brown mare taking third place and Collier laying behind all under a heavy pull. They came by the stand in this order amid a volley of cheers, and, as they rounded past the head of the back-stretch, Howell was pulling to Merritt, and Caddie lapped on the Montana horse. At the half-mile pole, they were all nicely bunched, but the big mare began to drop back, and Collier ran into third place under a pull. Then Jim Merritt dropped out as they rounded the bend and the battle was lost to the two geldings. Howell was still leading, but his rider was sitting up pretty straight, while Fallon was laying aback and the cantro alba kept on diving down after the bit. At last they entered the home stretch, and Fallon called on Collier. Quick as a flash the son of "Fighting Joe" came to the front, and galloped home an easy winner, the first mile having been won in 1:45¼, and the total distance in 2:12.

SUMMARY.

Howell	6	8	10	18	15
Merritt	4	5	6	10	8
Caddie R	2	3	4	5	5
	$32	46	60	93	78

On the half-mile dash which wound up the day was assembled the greatest field of short horses ever turned loose on the Pacific coast, selling as follows:

Premium	$20	40	60	70	80
Renick	8	10	20	30	50
Riggs	10	15	17	14	15
Belle	5	6	8	6	5
Fields	1	1	2	2	3
	$50	73	93	120	153

THE EXCITED CROWD

Surged about the pool-stand, and poured in a steady stream of gold and greenbacks. They were defiant as they heralded the fame of their respective favorites, and dared one another to back them up. At last the starter got them all together in the half-mile ground and called on them to move up for a start, Renick having the inside track, and having seven pounds less weight than Premium. The starter had not got them fairly bunched, when Blue Mountain Belle took a shoot and cannoned on Renick, unseating her rider, Harry More, who got a rather easy fall. The mare ran about a quarter and was caught up, but this extinguished all her chance for the race. At last they were all straight and moved up. The flag fell, and the great Chestnut got about thirty feet the best of the start. Blue Mountain Belle lay next to him, and then Premium. In this position they ran around the turn, and up came Lulu Riggs on even terms with Premium. Old Honest John and Telego brought up the rear in the race as they had done in the betting. The advantage gained in the start was never lost by Renick, who won in a canter by two lengths from the Belle, with Lulu third, Premium fourth, Telego fifth, and Honest John absolutely lost. The official time was 48¾ sec.

To-day's races consist of a two-mile dash for $600, in which Collier, Howell and Trade Dollar are entered, the chestnut being a favorite at $20 against $8 for the other two. The trotting race for 2:50 class has three entries also—General Crook, Maggie Arnold and Stranger—the mare selling for $20 against $12 for the others. There is also a trot for gentlemen's roadsters to go to wagons, and amateurs to drive.

AMUSEMENTS.

Hazel Kirke drew another full house last night, and among the audience were many who attended the opening night. The play is so pure, so true to nature, so admirably presented, that it is worth seeing twice, and even oftener. The entire company have established themselves as prime favorites. That the Madison Square Company, from Mr. Couldock and Miss Ellsler, down to the coachman, whose only line is "Yes, Madam," is by far the best which has ever visited Portland, is the general verdict.

A PROTEST

By the Portland Board of Trade Against the Proposition to Continue the Fishing Season after the 31st Instant

The following has been [illegible] addressed to the [illegible] interested in [illegible] Oregon and Washington Territory:

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] either that the law itself is nugatory, or that the practical difficulties in the way of its enforcement are such as to render it ineffective. It is claimed that, as in an instance the [illegible] of the Columbia river extend only to the center of the channel, there can be no successful prosecution in Oregon for the catching of salmon north of that line, for the reason that the crime would be committed neither within nor triable within any county. This assumption is fallacious. The jurisdiction of the state of Oregon over the Columbia river is coterminous with its north bank, and by the creation of counties the state has vested them with the exercise of its, the state's right, to criminal jurisdiction, and hence such crime, though it may not be committed within the geographical lines of any of such counties, is yet a crime cognizable therein. Such, as your committee is advised by the district attorney of the fourth judicial district of this state, is his view of the law, and this opinion is concurred in by some of the ablest jurists of this state. It is to be hoped that every honest right-thinking man will set his face like a flint against the threatened robbery of the state and posterity; that these [illegible] shall unite with ours to bring to justice violators of the law; that private greed shall not be allowed to work an irreparable public injury, and that reason may deter the unthinking from reproducing the folly of killing the "goose which lays the golden egg." But if not, this board of trade will, at least, be true to its mission, and whether successful in the contest, or not, will as far as lies in its power strengthen the hands of those to whom is committed the duty of enforcing the laws, with the moral and material support of its members.

FACTS ABOUT BLIZZARDS.

A Montana Man Entertains a Brooklyn Girl.

"Tell me about those dear delightful beautiful blizzards you have in your country," said the Brooklyn girl, folding her hands and looking up to him with a bewitchingly pleading glance. "I know they must be just too sweet for anything."

"Oh, they're sweeteners," ejaculated the Montana man, throwing one leg over the other, and warming to his subject. "You once get a blizzard after you, and you'll wish you hadn't any skirts on to bother you."

"And did you ever see one?" she asked with profound interest.

"Well, I should fire a grin!" responded he politely. "I've been around when our neck o' the woods was toiling hard to save its county representation. Why, miss, I seen a blizzard tip a prairie fire right up on end, and it blazed away a streak of fire thirty miles high! Just tipped it right up."

"Gracious!" squealed the girl. "I should have thought it would have blown it clear over."

"That's where you ketch your heel. You see, the fire struck agin a railroad locomotive that was passing some eighteen miles up, and the engine held it perpendicular," exclaimed the Montana man. "You can't fool a prairie fire much. When it came down it kept right on blazing and the engine dropped on the track and run right to the roundhouse in a liquid stream. They had to pack it in ice so as to freeze it into shape again. Oh, we have ice in our school district."

"I had no idea that a blizzard was so powerful," murmured the girl.

"Powerful! Well, you just shout, sister. Only two months ago a blizzard lifted Powder river straight up in the air, and carried it back seven miles in the woods. You just deal your last giblet on the power. That river's up in the trees yet and we're building saw mills upside down so as to get the water privilige. You read about those tornadoes. They're only gusts."

"My!" exclaimed the girl. "A blizzard must be something terrible!"

"Well, I should gobble distinctly!" returned the Montana man, with a quiet smile. "Just before I left an old he blizzard struck my town, and whooped us up about eighty feet! Town and all! We didn't come down for four weeks, and wouldn't have been down yet, only a Yankee threw a lariat over that streak of wind an' started an elevator! Why, Miss, you don't know no more about it than an old sock! Why, just south of us, one of 'em happened to hit a patch of country some fellows were surveying, and blew the whole line of the road right through the surveyor's transit! You bet! And the company lost its franchise, because the land granted to it just rolled right over, and they had to build the road straight up and down, or give it up!"

"I don't see how you manage to live in such a country," said the astonished girl.

"Oh, we peg along!" was the courageous response. "It's the greatest country outdoors! I remember one blizzard, though, that bothered us some. It happened to pop the Crow reservation, plumb center, and just blew the whole business right over on the next claim, Indians, ground, crops, everything! [illegible]"

"On the top of you," ejaculated the girl.

"The same," replied the Montana man. "There we was, right under 'em! The reds didn't dare go off their reservation for fear of war, and we didn't dare climb up through for fear of violating the treaty!"

"But how did you get out?" queried the girl.

"Oh, you can't hold such fellows down long! We're wild, woolly and hard to curry, miss. Then we've got the best land in the world. We just planted a grain crop under that reservation, and in fourteen days the wheat had hoisted it up a hundred feet, and there it stood! When the winter froze it into that position we gathered the crops and hauled out from under it. Then the thaw came in the spring, and, miss, you'd have just busted your collar band to see them Crow Indians when their reservation dropped!"

She sat and looked at him in amazement.

"But it isn't all tragedy, miss," continued the Montana man. "Blizzards has a funny side, sometimes. I remember when a buck blizzard slammed into Bud Kripple's funeral. We mourners just laid right down, and hung on with our teeth, but the defunct didn't [illegible] energy, and he was whisked up pretty near a mile! We never expected he was going that [illegible] astonisher to Bud. Miss, he hasn't come down yet!"

[illegible] ejaculated the [illegible] ... and he's sleeping his [illegible] eth the blizzard's howl, nor careth he a—a—" and the Montana man pulled up suddenly in his gloomy reflections, and rolled his eyes [illegible].

Wheat "Futures."

San Francisco Journal of Commerce.

At present, only a minimum of the wheat [illegible] here, many of the grain shippers send their agents into the country and purchase there. Now it is proposed to buy and sell on "futures" in San Francisco, [illegible] have the effect of making [illegible] this city. The danger lies in selling more wheat than can be had, when there is sure to be some one hurt. [illegible] If they who have moved first in the matter are driven from the exchange they will probably set up elsewhere, and in turn all will be drawn into the net, as there seems to be something irresistible about this method of doing business [illegible] no doubt from the fact that it possesses about it all that charm that is said to [illegible] less legitimately in gambling. We look, therefore, to see the future wheat business of the state done [illegible] Chicago. We say nothing [illegible] possibility [illegible] people [illegible] us.

Remarkable Revelations Promised in the Trial of a Libel Suit at Cumberland, Maryland. [illegible]

Special to New York Times.

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 7.—In my letter of May 14 I referred to the two visits made to Cumberland by John I. Davenport, who was hunting up evidence in the Morey letter case. Since then three witnesses have made [illegible] confessions in regard to their connection with James O'Brien, who represented himself as Robert Lindsay, and who is now serving a term in the Albany penitentiary for perjury in connection with this very case. Frank Brady, who lives at Rawlings, about three miles from Cumberland, went to New York city a few days after Mr. Davenport left and made a confession which has not yet been published. He has not yet returned home. James A. Birmingham, a detective in the employment of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company, and Richard Ryan, an employe in the [illegible] of that road, about the same time met Davenport in Baltimore, and there made a full confession and statement of their connection with the making of the affidavit to which the signature of Robert Lindsay was forged, and of the sending of [illegible] to New York under the name of Robert Lindsay. [illegible] details the employment of each of the parties by William M. Price, at that time the chairman of the democratic county central committee of Allegheny county, Md., and one of the electors of the democratic national ticket for the sixth district of Maryland. They set forth the times, places and circumstances under which their various interviews with Price were held, the [illegible] received in payment therefor, and the subsequent interviews and payments made by Price to purchase their silence in regard to the matter. It is generally supposed that the next move in this connection will be the bringing of Price to Washington as a witness or a defendant in the matter of his connection with the affair in a criminal trial, which, it is learned, can be brought under the statutes governing the District of Columbia, the party who made the first published copy of the Morey letter being, it is believed, a resident of the District of Columbia.

After these confessions were made, Price appeared in Baltimore, where he was represented as being a member of the democratic state central committee, but which statement, sent out by the agent of the associated press, proved to be false, as Price was not a member of that committee, and was not authorized to appear as proxy for anybody. Price was the guest of Senator Gorman, and, while traveling in the cars to Washington, picked up a Washington Star and read the following dispatch:

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 17, 1882.

W. M. Price left here very quietly on Sunday last, and was seen in Grafton, West Va. Sunday night. It is thought that he has left Cumberland for fear of arrest in connection with the Morey letter forgery case. Frank Brady, it seems, did swear to the affidavit that he was Robert Lindsay, but refused to go to New York until Saturday last. O'Brien is the man who swore in New York he was Lindsay. Price's sudden departure from Cumberland causes much sensation, and some people think he has gone to New York to see W. H. Barnum. Another report is that he has gone to Kansas, where his father died a year ago.

The author of this dispatch was a man named Goldsborough. Price has begun suit against him for libel. In the trial of this case here at the October term the sunlight of publicity is to be turned in on the whole affair. Its full extent and every ramification and incident down to the minutest detail will be laid bare, and then it will be known who were the guilty parties in this remarkable outrage. The work of exposure, which has been zealously and intelligently prosecuted for months by John I. Davenport of New York, Col. Henry J. Johnson, and Capt William E. Griffith, of this city, nears a close. There will be no halt. Justice to the dead as well as to the living demands that there shall be no cessation of the work. What hasn't been made public about this famous conspiracy would almost fill a book, and will afford food for a first class sensation.

The Herald says: "There are now sixty-four greatest shows on earth traveling in the United States." Our count makes it sixty-five.

CROPS AND MARKETS.

THURSDAY, July 20.

The [illegible] one in the cereal line as the sounds of harvest preparation is just now much more clamorous than the chaffing of the buying and selling. We are having weather conditions which, while favorable enough for winter sown grain as it is past the want of rain or of any requirement to make a good harvest, is causing spring sown grain, and especially late sowings, to suffer very seriously, and if an abundant rain does not soon come to reinvigorate and restore, it will result in a very considerable diminution of our yield for the ensuing crop year. This proposition applies alike to the Willamette valley and east of the Cascades. To what extent it will hurt all our prospects need not now be referred to, but every farming community over the territory named knows of the evil effects that are being wrought day by day by reason of the prolonged dry weather.

While the din of preparation is going on, we know it will interest the farming community to have put before them the prospects for prices, viewed in the light of present considerations, which affect values in the demand countries of the world. In this relation it may be said that the bad weather which prevailed to such an alarming extent for the last two weeks on the continent has been succeeded by weather which makes amends for the past, and it is now telegraphed to be "brilliant and of a character calculated to insure good crops rather than the reverse.

Taking it for granted that in present outlook there is the prospect of a good crop in Europe and good crops in the west, in some states already harvested, we come to those considerations which more intimately concern values here, the principal one of which is freight rates, or what is liable to be exacted for removing our surplus of breadstuffs to the demand ports of the world.

FREIGHTS.

For ten days past the same consideration which served to increase values of breadstuffs in Europe had its effect in stimulating freights here. Owners of shipping are remarkably obstinate and determined to hold to the idea that nothing less than the average of the rates paid last season will answer from here this. It results in a deadlock, and is working injuriously to us in Oregon, because, up to date, the quantity of shipping usually seeking in our direction has not been listed. We have not in sight, and available for loading, for the first four months of the harvest year, more than enough shipping to carry off one-quarter of our probable surplus; this stringency happens in the time within which most farmers feel constrained to part with their grain, and it follows, as a natural result, that freight rates will temporarily rule higher than for the average of the year. The ships in port are asking from 62s. 6d. to 70s. for August-September loading, but, because of the uncertainties of the situation, no exporter operating here is willing to concede it, but it is understood a Walla Walla firm have chartered recently within these rates. This operation will doubtless have the effect to stimulate shipowners to renewed confidence, and, by concerted action, they are more than likely to compel such rates for a time; but ultimately it is the impression of the knowing ones that cheaper freights can be had. The very same attitude between the ship-owners and exporters ruling here exists in San Francisco, except that the chances for lower freights are more in favor of the exporters there, by reason of a very considerable number of ships in port and about due, which hold more of a proportionate ratio to their requirements than we enjoy here. If 62s 6d is to be the ruling freights for August and September, and the English market no more buoyant than it is to-day, $1 55 per cental would be an outside price for valley wheat, and $1 50 for east of Cascades, for delivery here within those dates.

Of course, we cannot predict that this will be so, but we aver that the auguries now indicate it, and we hope no one will hold THE OREGONIAN to account if a change in the situation finds us in August or September better or worse off than we have portrayed. One thing is certain, the exporters, by their continued fight against the pretension of the ship owners, have been battling for the farmer, to save him as much as possible for his wheat.

GRAIN BAGS.

The bag market has assumed unexpected strength within a day or two past, owing to a concentration of stocks in San Francisco, and it seems inevitable that they will, so long as an active demand exists, rule at any rate to satisfy the exaction of the ringsters. It is believed over one-half of the requirements of this [illegible] been sold to the country at [illegible] the current quotation is 10½ [illegible] from San Francisco at this price now. It is not at all improbable that they will touch 10½ to 11 cents during the week. The fact of there being a quarter more sacks in San Francisco than the country requires argues nothing for prospective cheapness if concentrated, as there is no more demand for them if they are 5 cents apiece than 10, under any circumstances all that are required being enough to hold the crop.

WOOL.

The wool market is unchanged since our report of last week. Eastern Oregon wools are quotable at 18@20c and Willamette valley at 22@25c. There is nothing doing in the latter and but little in the former.

The Boston wool market for last week is reported by telegraph to THE OREGONIAN as follows: "Market for wool unchanged with steady demand for all desirable grades and steady market is looked for at least for the present. Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces range from 40 to 44c for X and XX and choice Michigan wool in favor with manufacturers on account of the excellent condition. Unwashed fleeces in demand and firm. Fine and medium grades 25@33c, low and coarse 17@23c, combing and delaine selections in good demand and meet with ready sale 43@45c for fine delaine and fine No. 1 combing. California wool quiet and very little has been done in it. Pulled wools in fair demand and been selling 35@47c for choice eastern and Maine supers and 28@42c for common and good supers. In foreign wool nothing of any consequence has been done for some days. Stock of all kinds small."

MARK LANE REPORT.

The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade for last week, says: Very heavy rains and want of sunshine have retarded crops. All cereals are badly rusted. Wheat in small supply, and advanced 2s; foreign advanced 1@2s, partly owing to Egyptian troubles, which the trade think may occasion a month's delay in Indian supplies. Off coast market firm. There were 14 arrivals and eight sales. Large business done in American red winter for July and August shipments at an improvement. Flour 7½s 6d. Barley — foreign was dearer. Oats 6d better. Maize dearer, but irregular. Sales English wheat during week 14,522 quarters at 48s 3d per quarter against 14,275 quarters at 46s 2d per quarter during corresponding week last year.

SALMON.

The salmon run on the lower Columbia continues light as when last reported. The proposition to fish after the 31st inst. has drawn out a deal of opposition, the Portland board of trade, whose circular on this subject we print elsewhere, taking the lead. It is felt that the proposed action by the cannery men would serve as a precedent dangerous to the future of the salmon business. Certainly unless some time during the run is allowed for the fish to make their way up the river, the annual runs will soon cease altogether. The Astorian, which is printed on the ground, and knows from daily observation of what it talks, takes strong ground against the proposition to extend the season. In its issue of the 19th inst. it says:

"This is a vital question to all Astorians, to all who propose to stay here, and help make the place what nature designed it should be. In a wider sense it is a question of paramount importance to Oregon and the Portland people are perfectly consistent in their recent action. For such action the Portland board of trade deserves commendation.

The semi-legal opinion seems to be that the law against any fishing before or after certain dates, is a local law; that it can be construed as "special legislation," and that it is contrary to our Oregon state constitution. Yet the Sunday law is in force throughout the state; that it is not a local law; but there has never been any serious attempt to enforce it. Gentle Caples tell us why. The law of Washington territory upon this matter, was once pronounced void, because it depended upon the action of the Oregon legislature, but that has been remedied by a new law. What is the trouble across the river? Is a "local law" void there, also? It is an alluring method of passing time, this wrapping up plain questions in legal subtleties and [illegible] cobwebs of jurisprudence.

The whole matter whittles right down to this: nothing can be done this season; there is too much on the one side and not enough on the other. Our next legislature has a duty before it, and it will be done unless the more important necessities of making [illegible] speeches on unimportant topics take up three-fourths of the session. The work for that legislature is to pass a law prohibiting the catching of salmon in any stream wholly or partly within the limits of the state of Oregon during the first twenty days of April and August of each year.

This cannot be considered as being of local or limited operation or significance; it applies to the Columbia, and in no way interferes with operations on Rogue river, at Tillamook or elsewhere in the state limits. The second clause of the law as drawn may be that all fishing on state rivers, between 6 A. M. Saturday and 6 P. M. Sunday shall be illegal. There may be [illegible] therefrom over such cruelty, but the law demands it and the court should award it. The third clause of this necessary law should be that all fishing [illegible] below the upper or east [illegible] of Sand island shall be prohibited. [illegible] Then let Washington territory pass similar laws at its next session; let adjustment of boundary lines be promptly and speedily settled, and then enforce the laws.

Portland Produce Prices.

There is no material change to note. Prices are steady. The San Francisco market is firm, and there is more inquiry there, and Walla Walla and Eastern Oregon grades are [illegible] held here are not [illegible] prices to meet a good price during the [illegible] sold. Oats are somewhat improved. [illegible] Francisco are more favorable. The demand there is for choice old oats for feed. The crop of the season will most likely be very large, and a decline in price is generally looked for. No change in barley. Advices from below show a steady market, with more business doing than usual. Hay is unchanged. Prospects are that the new crop will be excessive. Cured meats are very firm. There is a great deal of inquiry for choice Oregon shoulders and hams. Little is doing in side meats, owing to the advance in price. No change in lard. No change in hops. Dried fruit is extremely dull, owing to large receipts of green stuff from California. Apples are arriving from California. Receipts of butter have been very large during the past week. Prices are not changed from last week's quotations, but are rather weak. Onions are arriving freely from California. Eggs have declined, owing to large receipts. Chickens are very dull. Ducks are almost unsalable. Potatoes are declining. Receipts from below have been large, and Oregon new potatoes are now coming in in large quantities. There is a good prospect, however, that the coming year's crop will find a very fair price. Shingles are dull. Following are quotations to-day:

Wheat—Strong at $1 20@1 27.

Flour—Steady.

Wool—Quiet.

EASTERN FREIGHT SITUATION.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The movement of freight at wharves of California vessels, is still very moderate, mainly by reason of the prolonged strike of railroad freight handlers and consequent slow delivery of merchandise, and as a result ships complete cargoes very slowly. They are also retarded in loading by very slow deliveries of railroad iron of which there is yet considerable to go forward. The Palmyra is finishing up and will sail July 21st. Rates are unchanged but apparently to coming easier. Tonnage is in brisk demand for grain vessels at higher prices. For California there is no demand.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Markets are generally quiet except in the breadstuffs market, in which there is much turmoil.

Wheat is dull but closing steadily.
